LETTER FROM THE BOARD CHAIR CHARLENE AUGENSTEIN

WELCOME!

Thank YOU for joining us as we celebrate our 55th Season! For those of you who have been part of our ATC Family for quite some time, we are eternally grateful for your loyal support and cherished patronage. For those of you who are newcomers to ATC, we greatly look forward to becoming further acquainted as you frequent our theatre in the coming months.

As you journey throughout this Season with us, I believe you will find yourself experiencing a myriad of emotions. Theatre has the ability to touch our lives in a manner unlike all else. Although we all view theatrical performances through a difference lens, the impact upon us is oftentimes immeasurable. Laughter may be what we need for momentary escapism, or perhaps our need is a relatable storyline so we know we are not alone. Our hope is you always emerge fulfilled.

During the pandemic, we all learned as human beings we share an innate desire to be together with others. All life's joys are doubled when shared with another, just as sorrow is greatly comforted by fellow mankind. May ATC offer a temporary haven from all that is happening in our complicated lives, a home where you are always welcome. Should you happen to see me at the theatre, please be so kind as to introduce yourself, as it would bring me great delight!

LETTER FROM THE KASSER FAMILY ARTISTIC DIRECTOR SEAN DANIELS

“Tell the truth, and don’t be boring”

– Milos Forman advice to playwrights.

“If you want to write a good musical, tell the audience something you don’t want them to know about you. If you want to write a great musical tell the audience something you don’t want to know about yourself.” Advice we can’t remember where we heard, but we say it all the time.

We thought about these quotes a lot when we were making The Lion.

When I first met Ben Scheuer, he had four songs and a desire to tell the truth. It was 2013, he was two years from his cancer diagnosis, and I was two years out of rehab. We had a lot of truth to tell as we got our legs back underneath us.

As happens with the development of musicals, only one of those original 4 songs – in its entirety – is still in the show. Another appears in an altered version and two, though wonderful, are gone. The rest have been written since we began. “Weather The Storm” was written the night before the first Opening.

The majority of my journey directing this solo piece, was in the developing — coaching, pushing, pulling, gently shaping of the material itself.

For example, when we were at the Westin Playhouse developing it, Ben talked about the letter he had written to his Dad and how it haunted him. I suggested, as a way to unlock part of what was going on for him, that he write a letter to his father now. This of course made Ben burst into tears. And while he did it, I did what all good directors do: I ran across the street to the market, bought the most expensive bacon they had, and cooked it for him. After he mailed the letter, we talked about what he would say if he could write more; the next morning he woke up and wrote the majority of “Dear Dad,” which is the penultimate song.

So, that’s a bit of being a therapist, being a great friend, being a producer – basically in a solo show, whatever gets your performer to a great performance, that’s directing.

And then from there, we just let the music tell his beautiful and life-affirming story.

Then Edinburgh, New York City, London, a national tour (500 performances – LA, Washington, D.C.), “Best Musical” in the West End, The Drama Desk Award in New York City, and the Theatre World Award.

Now experiencing a second life, adding in the brilliant Max Alexander-Taylor to play “Ben” and the deeply inspired Alex Stenhouse as a co-director, the piece continues to grow and shape us as others join our group. Through it all, we’ve been asking ourselves, “what are we scared to tell you? How can this moment be more honest, and perhaps a little less boring?”

Tonight marks The Lion’s return to the U.S., and most likely the beginning of a second U.S. tour. Nothing boring about that.

Thanks for doing this with me.

ATC AT THE TEMPLE OF MUSIC AND ART 330 S. SCOTT AVE. TUCSON

There's something special about 55 years. Maybe it's the double numbers. Some believe the number 55 represents independence, personal freedom, even exploration and adventure

– it definitely signifies longevity and legacy. Heck, 55 years is half the age of Arizona!

While much has changed since Arizona Theatre Company (then called Arizona Civic Theatre) opened its doors in 1966, the commitment to bringing world-class theatre to Arizona stages has remained. In all, more than 350 shows have been staged by this company whose legacy goes far beyond any of us.

As we usher in Season 55, we're delighted to do so, for the first time in a very long time, with the majority of our staff Under One Roof. Our new location – a 22,000-square-foot complex on Country Club Road near the Tucson Airport (we affectionately call it The Country Club!) – will soon house the company's artistic side and business side all together. Our production shop, carpentry shop, paint booth and storage, props shop, and costumes storage is combined with office space for our artistic, production, development, finance, marketing and management staff.

Having so much of our staff "Under One Roof" helps us continue to grow and thrive to bring you outstanding theatre. It provides connectedness, continuity, and a new level of camaraderie for our staff that we hope will be evident on our stages.

As I think about the legacy of Arizona Theatre Company, I'm struck by how we constantly invent and reinvent our products – our shows – and how incredibly unique and fleeting each show is ... how a show will never be the same again once it closes. For that brief moment in time, it exists. And then it doesn't. Having that group of people together, with those audience members, at that moment in time creates an amazing product – a show with 38 magical performances. And then the cast and many of the creatives leave, and we're on to the next show. And the cycle continues, again and again, six shows in all, every season.

It is a privilege to have you join us as we build on our legacy and look to the next 55 years for ATC. It is because of the support from the communities we serve that we move into the future with respect for what has come before and excitement for what lies ahead.

Thank you for being here with us!

Fondly,

Geri Wright
Managing Director

Traditional music theater scores are said to need a good old-fashioned “I want” song – remember “Wouldn’t it be Lovely” from My Fair Lady:

All I want is a room somewhere
Far away from the cold night air
With one enormous chair
Oh, wouldn’t it be lovely?

Or maybe you are more familiar with “If I Were a Rich Man” from Fiddler on the Roof:

I’d build a big, tall house with rooms by the dozen
Right in the middle of the town
A fine tin roof with real wooden floors below
There would be one long staircase just going up
And one even longer coming down
And one more leading nowhere, just for show

Finally, Walt Disney gave us Snow White and her “I’m Wishing”:

I’m wishing
(I’m wishing)
For the one I love
To find me
(To find me)
Today

These are all wonderful examples; historic, for sure and classic. But maybe what is needed in the midst of a slightly more ... nuanced ... world is something akin to what Benjamin Scheuer gives us in The Lion. Scheuer tells us “Ben’s” wish in the third line, “There is nothing I want more than to play like him.” The “him” in question is his father, who, “in another life would have been a musician.” Young Ben, age 11, adores his father, especially when they are making music together. But, like so many other stories of fathers and sons, these wants and adorations change, and sometimes disappear. And, so when Ben’s father gets angry and walks away from him after a bad report card when he is 14, Ben’s want changes: he doesn’t want to be like his father anymore.

Unlike Eliza Doolittle, Teyve, or Snow White, who only have one opportunity to articulate their desires, Ben articulates his evolving wants throughout The Lion. He wants to be a better communicator, he wants to make noise, he wants to disappear, he wants to go away, and, ultimately, he wants “this thing” to go away.

We won’t give away the plot details, but the want at the heart of Scheuer’s play is timeless. As Ben grapples with his family (including his mother and brothers), his new love, and eventually himself, his path is not straightforward. What we experience as the journey unfolds is joy and grief, intimate and universal. While there is tragedy in Ben’s life, as there is in all lives, he discovers that great things can come from awful things, and that to heal devastating scars, it takes self-discovery and the unquestioning love from family.

The classic musical gives the central character an opportunity to clearly announce what their want is, usually in the first act. After this pronouncement, the character spends the rest of the evening in pursuit; obstacles abound, but by the end, we usually hear another version: the want achieved and a happy ending. In the case of The Lion, we do not experience that usual cycle. The foundation of the piece is one character, surrounded by guitars, telling us a story. In the midst of Ben trying to figure out his wants, we are privy to the representation of the many kinds of wants we also might have experienced: hope, honesty, sadness, grief, and happiness. We lean in to listen closely, to discover our own selves in his journey. No razzle dazzle big numbers here – instead we receive Ben’s life as we would that of a close friend whispering to us their fears about the future. As you listen to the “I Want” songs and needs expressed throughout The Lion, take a minute to consider your own desires. What are you doing to make them become a reality?

UNDERSTUDY

Jake Allen (Understudy, Ben) is making his ATC debut. Allen crafts a kaleidoscopic sound that plunges the curious listener into a world of endless sonic possibilities, including prog-pop, waves of ambient instrumentals, and complex musical layers. Steeped in years of live performance and well-versed in an array of instruments, Allen's dexterity both on-record and live is only amplified when he wields a single guitar in an almost hypnotic display. A documentarian of sorts, Allen's immersive storytelling and emotional vocal performance offer a multi-timbral journey through time and space.

"Memory takes a lot of poetic license. It omits some details; others are exaggerated ... for memory is seated predominantly in the heart."

— Tennessee Williams, The Glass Menagerie

An intimate and intense classic reimagined for ATC's stages.

The Glass Menagerie, one of the greatest plays of all time, is a poetic and raw portrayal of a family on the brink of change. Reimagined for Arizona Theatre Company's stages, this intimate and intense classic that changed the way we tell stories draws from the memories of narrator Tom and explores the complex web of love, longing, loyalty, and constraints that bind families together. Directed by Chanel Bragg, the play continues ATC's history of investigating and reimagining the classics.

Local Artistic Spotlight

In each ATC show guide, Associate Artistic Director Chanel Bragg highlights a member of the cast or creative team who is not only local to Arizona but exemplifies excellence within their field. There is such incredible talent within our community, and as the state theatre of Arizona, it is part of our mission to showcase that talent. Throughout the program, you will see an embodiment of this commitment with this symbol. 🌟 In August, Bragg interviewed Emily Mohnney, who is starring as Cassie in ATC's highly anticipated sequel and holiday selection, The Wickhams: Christmas at Pemberley.

Q&A

Q: Emily, when did you first discover your love for performing?

I was placed in youth theater in the third grade to help me make friends after my family moved to a new state. It was a pay-to-play operation, and they worked us like horses until 9 or 10 at night. I learned to say "Thank you" after a note. I learned how to use mascara. I loved it.

Q: How do you cultivate that love into a profession?

I am in the same boat as a lot of local Phoenix talent in that I have a "day job." But my aim was never to become professional when I began pursuing acting as an adult. I believe the thing that connects most professionals is that quitting was never really an option, and that constant movement will eventually cultivate your marketable skill and place you in the path of some professional success.

Emily Mohnney

UPCOMING ARIZONA ARTIST SPOTLIGHT

Q: Where did you study to help build your craft?

Almost all my skills, habits, and knowledge come from practical experience. I was one year into my BFA at Stephens College when my family and I decided it was not financially feasible. But I think any craftsman continues building their craft with every new rehearsal room, script, director ... everything. We should be learning from everything.

Q: What is your proudest moment in your career?

At this moment, it's booking Arizona Theatre Company. I'm serious!

Q: What inspired your audition for The Wickhams?

I am an AVID Jane Austen fan. Did you know she thought her work would fall out of popularity quickly, as society evolved out of the norms she satirized in her books? WRONG, BABE. Ask me about the newest adaptation of "Persuasion" if you have 45 minutes.

Q: Why are you excited to be part of our production of The Wickhams?

The first time I see our costume renderings I am going to cry. I promise you. Let's see some more empire waist dresses! I am also very excited to work with director Veronika Duerr. We saw her perform in Miss Bennet last year, and the woman clearly knows how to mine every bit of comedy out of a scene.

Q: Why do you live in Arizona and work in this market?

My family is here. My partner is here, and he is working to help do very important things to innovate Arizona's artistic offerings. Arizona is a hard place to be solely employed as an artist. And, because of that, we lose a lot of wonderful local talent to bigger markets. But I feel a lot of loyalty to this community. It was kind of my incubator.

Q: What is your favorite role that you played?

Anne Sullivan in The Miracle Worker. That's a hard role for a young woman! It's a lot of worldliness for a girl from Chandler to conjure up. That was probably my first time not playing a romantic ingenue, either. It kind of shifted my whole perspective of how I can contribute to a story.

Q: What is currently on the horizon for you?

Hopefully, travel. My partner and I decided we wanted to prioritize seeing theatre in different markets. I want to see some weird stuff in the back of a coffee shop in Philly, or something.

Q: What is a secret talent that you have?

I own 34 thriving houseplants.

Q: Now, on to some fun questions. If you could only eat one thing for the rest of your life, what would it be?

Salmon. I don't care about my mercury levels.

Q: What is a destination you always wanted to travel to?

Italy. I want to drink wine and walk on thousand-year-old streets. Maybe not at the same time. What're Florence's open container laws?

Q: What are you currently reading or bingeing on Netflix?

Every six months or so I rewatch all the Great British Baking Show episodes. It's about time to start again!

*A life-affirming story of love,
(memory) loss,
and dealing with it all.*

Written by Pulitzer Prize Nominee Steven Drukman, this ATC world premier is a remarkable, funny, and life-affirming story about the relationship between a mother and son. An esteemed critic, Prudence "Pru" Payne is widely recognized as a wit, a scholar, and a public intellectual; her son Thomas lives in that shadow. But as her memory begins to fade, all her preconceived notions — about herself and, more importantly, others — also slip away.

ATC AT THE TEMPLE OF MUSIC AND ART 330 S. SCOTT AVE. TUCSON

WE INSPIRE CREATIVITY ACROSS THE STATE

ATC delivers inspiring experiences in a number of ways, both connected to our stage and beyond our walls, in schools, and across the state.

OUR PROGRAMS INCLUDE:

ATCteen

ATCteen is a program designed with the student in mind. We are actors, directors, writers, designers, improvisers, and theatregoers. ATCteen brings together a diverse group of teens ages 13-18 from the Tucson area. We write, direct, and perform in our own productions, see plays from local theatre companies, explore different ATC departments through interactive workshops, and get behind-the-scenes looks at what happens at Arizona Theatre Company through workshops and interactions with professional artists.

DAVID IRA GOLDSTEIN ARTIST-IN-RESIDENCE PROGRAM

Residency programs are 10-week intensive in-school workshops available to middle and high school drama departments. Students and teachers learn from professional teaching artists in a content area of their choice. These specialized and unique experiences allow students to deepen their learning and sharpen their skills in theatre arts. Residency topics include acting techniques, improv, stage combat, Shakespeare, devised theatre, and more.

STUDENT MATINEE SERIES

Student Matinees allow ATC to share the live theatre experience at low or no cost to young people. (For elementary, middle school, high school, and college groups).

SUMMER ON STAGE

Summer On Stage is a dual track, seven-week intensive theatre training program for high school theatre students.

Performance Track: Students develop performance skills and experience a professional rehearsal process with Summer on Stage. ATC staff and teaching artists support an extraordinary summer learning experience, leading participants through a variety of acting, voice, and movement classes, and rehearsals leading to a fully produced performance at the historic Temple of Music and Art, Downtown Tucson.

Technical Theatre Track: Participants develop a technical theatre portfolio and learn from ATC's team of professional designers and technicians. Students learn sound, lighting, costume, and scenic design, as well as experience the process of mounting and running a fully realized production.

NOËL COWARD'S

PRIVATE LIVESCan't live with 'em, can't live without 'em.

Amanda and Elyot are enjoying a romantic honeymoon — just not with each other. This hilarious classic comedy filled with clever, witty barbs starts when an explosive divorced couple and their new spouses inadvertently honeymoon in adjacent rooms at the same hotel. When combustible chemistry reignites, mayhem occurs, and strong passions and stronger personalities take over. Noël Coward's most popular and enduring comedy is a funny, tempestuous battle of equals.

THE ROADMAP TO

AN ATC PRODUCTION

SELECT HIGHLIGHTS

PLAY IS WRITTEN

Sometimes it takes 2 days, sometimes it takes 20 years. Sometimes it comes in whole, sometimes it comes in pieces or waves. It is written and rewritten over and over. It is hard work creating something out of nothing.

DESIGN AND CONSTRUCTION

About 1 year before opening, the design meetings are held so the whole team can meet and talk about what the production will look, sound, and feel like, based on how they have interpreted the play.

3-6 months before opening, the set is built and costume designs are finalized.

PUBLICITY, MARKETING, & FUNDRAISING

Plays need audiences, so the publicity and marketing team is hard at work looking for ways to entice both Tucson and Phoenix communities to come and see the show. The development team is also fundraising from individuals, corporations, foundations, and the government to make sure the money is there to pay for the production.

THE PRODUCTION IS CAST

Auditions are held 6-12 months before opening. Auditions let the director and playwright find actors who are able to fill the needed roles - a cast is selected based on talent, how right they are for the role, and sometimes just because it feels right. At this point, technical workers like lighting crew, stage crew, and others may be assigned or hired.

WEEK OF PREVIEWS IN TUCSON

Previews take place one week before opening night. By this time the play has transformed itself into a full production, but it needs just a bit more time to make sure that everything is running smoothly. Sometimes there are adjustments to the play itself, occasionally tweaks to design elements. The goal is to put everything together while also seeing how an audience responds to the work.

TUCSON AND PHOENIX RUN

Arizona Theatre Company is the only LORT theater in the United States that has audiences in two cities, so during the show's run in Tucson, publicity for the show in Phoenix intensifies. The stage manager ensures that the production stays on track and makes adjustments as necessary.

Arizona Theatre Company puts our artists and audience at the heart of all we do. ATC's performances bring people together on our stages to experience essential stories about what it means to be alive today, from reimagined classics to contemporary plays, original works, and innovative musicals fostering continued conversation beyond the theatre walls.

Founded in 1966 and celebrating its 55th season, ATC is led by The Kasser Family Artistic Director Sean Daniels and Managing Director Geri Wright. ATC operates in two major cities, unlike any other LORT theatre in the country, and is recognized as the official State Theatre.

Each season, ATC collaborates with world-class artists to create productions and programs about what it means to be alive today, inspiring curiosity and sparking joy, bringing all Arizonans together.

ATC shares the power of theatre through a variety of outreach programs, educational opportunities, access initiatives, and community events. Including our nationally recognized ATCteen program and National Latinx Playwright Award, ATC focuses on training artists, audience, and community members about the creative power of theatre, reaching far beyond the metropolitan areas of Tucson and Phoenix, enriching the theatre learning experience for all.

ATC SUPPORTS ITS VITAL MISSION WITH THESE KEY INITIATIVES:

ATC Mainstage

Each season ATC produces six mainstage productions, bringing together the best talent from across Arizona, the country, and the world. ATC playwrights, directors, designers, actors, and production teams represent the finest artists and technicians working today.

Engagement in Phoenix and Tucson

ATC provides a place for communities across Arizona to gather, share, and explore the art-making process.

New Play Development

ATC provides playwrights and theater makers, both locally and internationally, a place to develop their work. Through workshops and readings, we give artists a place to incubate and launch productions, both at ATC and beyond. ATC is also proud to support emerging voices with the annual National Latinx Playwright Award.

Education and Outreach

ATC delivers inspiring experiences in a number of ways, both connected to our stage and beyond our walls, in schools, and across the state. Core programs of our education efforts include Summer On Stage, ATCteen, Student Matinees, and the Artist-In-Residence program.

A big-hearted, fierce, music-
filled comedy.

Casey, an Elvis impersonator with everything going for him — including a flashy sequin jumpsuit — suddenly loses his gig, his rent is overdue, and his wife announces a baby on the way. So, when Elvis leaves the building and a drag show moves in, "The King" transforms into an all-out queen with some help from his new friends. With snappy zingers and dance-worthy numbers, this wildly entertaining story challenges assumptions with extraordinary humor and depth.

Tony Award-winning author Matthew Lopez is the 2020 recipient of the Drama Desk Award for Outstanding Play, Drama League Award for Outstanding Production of a Play, and GLAAD Media Award for Outstanding Broadway Production.

THE TEMPLE OF MUSIC AND ART

The Temple of Music and Art is a beautifully refurbished 1927 theatre, built in the Spanish Colonial style that flavors so much of our city. ATC has identified the following services and policies to ensure your comfort and enhance your experience at the theatre.

THEATRE POLICIES

Latecomers – Latecomers will be seated only at an appropriate and predetermined break in action. In order not to disturb patrons who are already enjoying the performance, latecomers may be seated in alternate locations until intermission.

Cellphones and Cameras – As a courtesy to our patrons and the actors, the use of cameras and recording devices is not permitted within the theatre. Please restrict cellular phone use to the courtyard only.

Children – Children under 5 are not permitted in the theatre during performances.

Emergency calls – Emergency calls may be made to the House Manager's cell phone directly: 520-547-3981.

Smoking – Smoking is not permitted anywhere within the building. Look for designated smoking area signage. In the event of smoking onstage, a sign will be posted in the lobby.

ACCESSIBILITY SERVICES

Assisted Listening Services – The theatre is equipped with the Sennheiser Mobile Connect listening system for use by patrons with partial hearing loss or limited range of hearing. An Ambassador Usher or our House Manager can assist you with connecting hearing aids to the system. Additionally, devices may be checked out in the Box Office to access the system. Please be prepared to leave a driver's license or other form of identification while using your headset.

American Sign Language – Many productions have a performance available in American Sign Language (ASL). For information about the dates of our ASL performances, please contact the Box Office.

Captioning – Coordinated with the action onstage, those in open-captioned seating will be able to read the play's dialogue displayed in large letters on an LED screen. For open-captioned performance dates, contact the Box Office.

Accessible Seating – is available via the Box Office for all performances. If you would like seating assistance at the theatre, please contact the House Manager at 520-547-3981.
