LETTER FROM KASSER FAMILY ARTISTIC DIRECTOR MATT AUGUST

Drones, laser beams, gymnastics, boxing, and more – all on stage ... Welcome to HEIST!

This show inspired me to think, “What is possible for the theatre to be?” Not only will audiences witness an exhilarating, athletic event on stage, but this show also has a lot of heart, romance, and intrigue. It’s a dazzling story filled with many fun layers.

As I was planning for the 25/26 season last year, I kept coming back to this script. I read Arun Lakra’s incredibly complex manuscript and immediately started thinking of the people I could bring into the fold to do this project with. And now, here we are, elated to be giving Heist its U.S. premiere!

I’ve been lucky enough to assemble an incredible group of designers who bring a mix of the crème de la crème of both Tucson and Broadway: Tony-nominated scenic designer Jim Noone (ATC’s Dial M for Murder), legendary local costume designer Kish Finnegan (ATC’s Bob & Jean: A Love Story, Barefoot in the Park, The Glass Menagerie, Justice, American Mariachi, King Charles III, Romeo and Juliet, Hair, and many others), West End lighting designer Mike Billings (ATC’s Bob & Jean: A Love Story), ATC’s 2025/2026 Resident Artist and sound designer Daniel Perelstein Jaquette (ATC’s Blues in the Night, Dial M for Murder, Intimate Apparel, Private Lives, and Nina Simone: Four Women), and international media and video wizard Sven Ortel, making his ATC debut.

In addition to the excitement that is this show, as a company we have the honor and privilege to introduce our new Executive Director, Ana Rose O’Halloran!

Ana Rose comes to us from Antaeus Theatre Company in Los Angeles, where she guided the organization through significant growth, produced more than 25 acclaimed shows, led a $3 million capital campaign, and expanded audiences over her 10 years first as Executive Director and then as Producing Executive Director. In total, she’s built an impressive 17-year career as a nonprofit and performing arts executive. Her leadership in strategic planning, fundraising, programming, and operations has helped grow several organizations and strengthen their impact in their communities.

She is an artist- and community-centered leader who hails from one of the most robust and competitive metropolitan and international performing arts markets in the country. She is a formidable fundraiser, having led multi-million-dollar capital campaigns, and brings proven operational excellence and inspired vision-setting for professional theatres. The two of us will soar working together, taking ATC into a thrilling new era.

She and I share a vision for what ATC is and has the potential to grow into. We both started our careers at Center Theatre Group, the largest LORT theater in Los Angeles, which shaped our tastes and ambitions, and I found that our inherent shared common ground, values, and goals are deep. So, with that, please join me in welcoming Ana Rose!

Onward and upward,

LETTER FROM EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR ANA ROSE O'HALLORAN

It's a joy and privilege to welcome you to Arizona Theatre Company in my new role as Executive Director. Whether you're new to ATC, like me, or a longtime member of this community, I'm grateful that you're here.

Live theatre connects us in ways few other things can. It sparks joy, inspires conversations, reminds us of our shared humanity, and, at its best, builds community. Your presence here in the audience makes all of that possible – thank you.

I feel incredibly fortunate to join ATC at such an energizing moment. Under Matt August's artistic leadership, the company's creative momentum is undeniable: bold storytelling, thrilling productions, and a commitment to engaging audiences. I've been inspired by our staff's dedication and our board's steadfast support. My goal is to build on these strengths, inviting new audiences and donors into the conversation while deepening the impact for those who already know and love ATC.

Thank you for being here for this production and for supporting live theatre. As we look ahead, I'm excited to listen, learn, and dream big together about what's next for our company.

I look forward to meeting you, so please do say hello in the lobby or wherever our paths cross.

Recognized as the Official State Theatre of Arizona with a legacy started in 1966, ATC has an unwavering commitment to delivering exceptional theatrical experiences to the communities of Tucson and Phoenix. As the sole LORT (League of Resident Theatres) professional nonprofit regional theatre in Arizona, ATC proudly sets the gold standard for artistic excellence and innovation.

ATC is led by Executive Director Geri Wright and Kasser Family Artistic Director Matt August. Each season, ATC employs world-class artists to produce professional theatre, reaching an audience of over 130,000 patrons through mainstage productions, student matinees, and community outreach.

MISSION

Arizona Theatre Company's mission is to create world-class theatre about what it means to be alive today – inspiring curiosity and creativity, sparking empathy and joy – bringing all Arizonans together.

VISION

Arizona Theatre Company's vision is to transform the lives of every Arizonan through the power of theatre.

ATC supports its vital mission with these key initiatives:

ATC Mainstage

Each season, ATC produces five mainstage productions, bringing together the best talent from across Arizona, the country, and the world. ATC playwrights, directors, designers, actors, and production teams represent the finest artists and technicians working today.

Engagement in Phoenix and Tucson ... and Beyond

ATC operates in two major cities, unlike any other LORT theatre in the country, providing a place for communities across Arizona to gather, share, and explore the art-making process, reaching beyond the metropolitan areas of Tucson and Phoenix, enriching the theatre learning experience for all.

New Play Development

ATC provides playwrights and theater makers, both locally and nationally a place to develop their work. Through workshops and readings, we give artists a place to incubate and launch productions, both at ATC and beyond. ATC is also proud to support emerging voices with the annual National Latine Playwrights Award and Festival.

Education and Outreach

ATC delivers inspiring experiences in a number of ways, both connected to our stage and beyond our walls, in schools, and across the state. Core programs of our education efforts include Student Matinees, playguides, and post-show discussions.

Living Our Values (LOV) Initiative

We strive to put our values at the center of who we are and what we do – continuously connecting our audiences, artists, staff, and stakeholders to our core values, creating a true sense of belonging, equity, and diversity within the organization and the communities we serve. Nowhere is this more important than the work we build and perform on our stages.

heist

The perfect crime requires the perfect team to pull it off. Consider for a moment how you might plan such a job. What kind of crew would you assemble? How would you distract your target? How would you steal what you're after and make sure no one knew it was you? Very quickly, it becomes clear: the perfect crime isn't a solo act. You'd need people with different skills, perfect timing, and total trust. And when you're a team of thieves attempting the impossible, how do you know who you can trust?

This is the high-stakes world Arun Lakra brings to life in Heist – a theatrical thrill ride that explores not only the mechanics of a daring robbery, but the fragility of trust, the complexity of memory, and the power of performance itself.

Inspired by classic films like Ocean's Eleven, The Italian Job, and The Sting, Heist adapts the cinematic caper for the stage, creating a fast-paced charade that blends genre thrills with theatrical invention. Heist doesn't just borrow tropes, it retools them, transforming cinematic style into something that feels native to the stage: immediate, intimate, and impossible to predict.

We're met with a motley crew of professional thieves who have never worked with a team before. A failed first operation has left them on edge and doubting who they can confide in. But when the leader of the pack, Marvin, finds an opportunity to steal a valuable gem from a rival thief, it's too good to pass up. He reassembles his crew for this "one last job," targeting a figure known as "The Spider."

Beneath that familiar premise, however, lies a layered investigation into betrayal, perception, and the costs of ambition. The play's nonlinear structure shuttles between present action and revealing flashbacks, inviting the audience into detective mode. Audiences are not just watching a theft unfold, they are actively piecing it together, uncovering lies, half-truths, and buried motivations as the ensemble's shared past is exposed in fragments.

The characters in Heist follow the classic caper archetypes: the leader, the femme fatale, the hacker, the muscle, and the slippery confidant. But Heist avoids flattening them into cliché. Instead, it enriches these roles with emotional texture and psychological depth. Marvin, confident outwardly, harbors insecurities and a hunger for answers. Ryan's charm masks ambiguous loyalties and a growing crisis of conscience. Angie's athleticism and charisma conceal wounds that complicate her choices. Fiona's brilliance with tech is matched by social unease that keeps others at bay. Kruger, the muscle, is both comic relief and potential powder keg. Each character brings both skill and volatility to the job, ingredients for either success or disaster.

Heist explores how perfect plans are tainted by human weakness. Just when it seems that every wrinkle is ironed out, there's another crease hiding out of view. So lean in. Pay attention. The thrill lies not only in what's revealed, but in what's deliberately obscured. Every glance, every silence, every flicker of light might be part of the con or the truth struggling to break through. In a world built on illusion, discovery belongs to those who dare to look twice.

PLAYWRIGHT'S NOTES

When movie night arrives at the Lakra family home, it is a rare film that we all agree upon. Yet for some reason, my Fast and Furious son (Taro) and my Pitch Perfect daughter (Siya), my Princess Bride (Roopa) and her Holy Grail husband, all love watching fun heist movies like Oceans 11. Or 13. (Let's not talk about 12.) Now if only we could agree on the snacks.

A couple of years ago out of the blue, Chad Rabinovitz, the Artistic Director of a theatre company in Indiana (also a heist lover), knocked on my door wanting to commission me to write a 'heist' play. His goal was to create a fun, edge-of-your-seat, popcorn-munching, twisty-mystery-heist-whodunnit for the stage.

I said no.

While it was, of course, exciting and flattering to be asked, I soon understood why I had never seen a heist play on stage before. They were impossible to write!

In movies, we have the ability to use flashbacks, and cutaways, strategic camera angles, and sneaky perspectives, to misdirect the audience. Not to mention Clooney and Pitt and Damon to distract from any plot holes with their charm and boyish good looks. But on stage, without those tricks, there's no way we could fool and surprise and satisfy the audience. Plus, writing a heist play, and particularly one for smart, sophisticated audiences who can spot a suspicious butler a mile away, was daunting. Surely the audience had seen it all. No thank you!

I was persuaded to give it a shot. By that I mean I sprawled on the sofa and watched every caper movie ever made (all the while trying to persuade my family that I was "working"). One day, I had an epiphany. While theatre gives us obstacles, it also provides intriguing opportunities. I started to wonder ... could we actually pull off a heist ... on stage?

I am grateful to Matt August for his belief in this show and for his directorial brilliance, to the cast for their perfect blend of talent and brainpower, and to the entire ATC team for all their hard work in bringing Heist to the stage for its U.S. Premiere.

I hope you have fun!

Humor.
Friendship.
Reinvention.

An empty-nesting Midwestern woman takes in a mysterious East Coast lodger, igniting an unexpected, hilarious journey of reinvention, risk, and second chances. Straight off Broadway, The Roommate is a wickedly funny, deeply moving story of self-discovery reminiscent of The Odd Couple and Grace and Frankie.

Four-time Oscar-nominated actress and veteran director Marsha Mason, who was Associate Director of the Broadway production starring Patti LuPone and Mia Farrow, returns to ATC to direct (she previously directed ATC's Chapter Two and An Act of God).
